SPARKLING WINE

Bollinger, Champagne

Bollinger is one of the last family houses in Champagne and this is what allows for the quality and style that offers wine lovers something different and unique. Bollinger Special Cuvée is a blend composed mostly of reserve wines and 60% Pinot Noir, yielding a precise combination of balance and body. Quality is maintained year after year thanks to a precious collection of reserve wines from the Grand and Premier Cru vineyards, matured slowly in magnums for between five and ten years. Jacques Bollinger, head of the Champagne house from 1918, married Elizabeth Law de Lauriston Boubers who went by the name of Lily, or Tante Lily (Aunt Lily) to family and friends. It was Lily who took the reins when Jacques died, in 1941. She was a hard taskmaster, personally directing operations in both vineyard and winery, and everything from harvest and selection through to fermentation and blending. It is perhaps not surprising that much of Bollinger's success today is traced back to her exacting methods.

Ayala, Champagne

The unique, small artisan Champagne house of Ayala can trace its history back to 1860. Ayala is considered a pioneer in the production of low dosage champagnes and introduced its Zero Dosage Brut Nature in 2005. This style shows the purity of Ayala: round, soft, fresh, well balanced with delicate fruit notes and elegant acidity. The Brut Majeur is the result of the blending of a particular harvest with quality reserve wines. The low dosage reveals the delicate aromas and bouquet. The Rosé will charm you with its finesse and wonderful elegance with more than 50% of Chardonnay in the blend. If Bollinger are known for depth and breadth then Ayala is known for precision.

Lanson, Champagne

Lanson is one of the historic houses of Champagne with a rich history of crafting exquisite cuvees. A house that has traditionally been known for its mouth watering crispness making it the perfect aperitif style. Since 1760, the house of Lanson has remained family owned. Faithful to its heritage, Lanson Champagnes have always been made the original way, offering an exceptional development of flavours while preserving the natural purity of the fruit. This historical commitment makes Lanson wines fresher, crisp and elegant with a longer ageing potential. A truly unique style.

Freixenet, Penedes

Since 1889, the Ferrer family have been producing superior quality cava, the result of years of dedicated exceptional skill and loving care. Cava is the name given to quality sparkling wine, produced from a blend of three Spanish varieties, Macabeo, Paralleda and Xarel-lo. The sparkle and flavour develop in the bottle as it ages in cool, dark underground cellars. Sant Sadurni d'Anoia is the home and heart of Freixenet, situated near Barcelona, this is an area of great beauty with a fabulous climate for wine-making.

Vigna Dogarina, Treviso

Located between the Carnic Alps and the Venice Lagoon in the heart of Treviso, Vigna Dogarina is a single estate Prosecco producer. From the eagle's nest on top of the winery the entire estate can be viewed; from the small chapel where the harvest festival is held to the manicured rows of vines yielding top quality Glera grapes. Here the focus is single-minded – quality and consistency.

Chateau Beychevelle, Bordeaux

Les Brulieres de Beychevelle is owned by Chateau Beychevelle who are based in St Julien. Les Brulieres' 12 hectares of vines are 5 km from Beychevelle's vineyard. Being further from the Gironde estuary, they benefit from a cooler climate. The vineyard is in the Haut-Médoc appellation and has been managed organically since 2008. Brulieres' blend consists of just two grape varieties: Cabernet Sauvignon and Merlot. Vinified and aged in a separate winery, it is produced with the same level of care as Château Beychevelle and Amiral de Beychevelle. "This third wine under the fourth-growth Beycheville label offers value with style. Produced from grapes that are outside the chateau's Saint-Julien appellation, it shows plenty of the estate's stylish winemaking. There's black currants and attractive acidity and tannins." – Wine Enthusiast.

The Grand Bateau range is blended by Chateau Beychevelle's winemaker Philippe Blanc in the classic Bordeaux tradition with Merlot and Cabernet Sauvignon for the red and Sauvignon Blanc for the white.

Clos Puy Arnaud, Bordeaux

Clos Puy Arnaud is a biodynamic Bordeaux estate based in Castillon on the right bank of the river. Thierry Valette is a man steeped in Bordeaux history with his family previously owning Chateau Pavie and Troplong Mondot, the iconic St Emilion estates. Like his forebears Thierry's aim is to produce terroir wines from the limestone "asteries" of Castillon. As early as 1874 the Puy Arnaud Cru was cited in the Feret wine reference book "Bordeaux et ses Vins" as a first growth. In the 1898 edition, it is written: "The Cru Puy Arnaud has 15 hectares situated on the rocky surface of Puy Carpin at the border of Sainte Colombe. Planted with noble grape varieties, cultivated with the utmost care, it produces some of the most sought after wines of the county." At that time, Puy Arnaud was part of the St Emilion region and was so until the first St Emilion Classification in the 1950s. Thierry believes in minimum use of new wood to allow the Merlot and Cabernet Franc fruit to show their full expression.

Barton & Guestier, Bordeaux

The company's founder, Thomas Barton left his native Ireland in the beginning of the 18th century & emigrated to Bordeaux when he was just 30 years old. A true adventurer he founded his wine shipping company in 1725. In 1802 Hugh Barton his grandson & successor teamed up with Daniel Guestier, a French trader to create Barton & Guestier which is today the oldest wine merchant established in Bordeaux. With over three centuries of experience in the wine business Barton & Guestier is the 1st French brand name known to millions of consumers worldwide.

Louis Jadot, Burgundy

This house is one of the leading winemakers in Burgundy, with vineyards covering over 154 hectares in the Appellation Contrôlées of Burgundy. The winemaking philosophy is quite simple: to express the true nature of Burgundy and each Appellation through their wines. They have a distinct philosophy. All grapes are hand harvested. Chardonnay undergoes a long slow alcoholic fermentation by wild yeasts (usually in oak for the Cote d'Or wines) followed by full or partial malolactic, depending on the vintage. Pinot Noir is generally completely destemmed and undergoes a long maceration in oak or steel. Fermentation temperature for red wine is not controlled. A tasting across a range of the wines below shows the wonderful diversity of terroir that Burgundy offers, expressed almost entirely through just one red and one white grape.

Philippe Pacalet, Burgundy

Philippe is famous for being one of the leading lights of the natural wine scene worldwide – a title that doesn't always sit well with him. His philosophy is certainly one of minimal intervention but his ideas on winemaking, particularly the use of sulphur dioxide, would be anathema to some of the more dogmatic natural winemakers. Philippe's wines are characterized by wonderful fruit purity and clean structural lines; wines that clearly speak of the villages where they were born. His cellars are based in the heart of the Burgundian capital of Beaune where he crafts small parcels from throughout the region.

Maison Róisín Curley, Burgundy

Striking wines from Mayo native Róisín Curley. Róisín helped in winemaking at such illustrious names as Chateau Latour in Bordeaux, where she worked specifically on their biodynamic project, before finding her true love of terroir expression in Burgundy. She operates out of a tiny cellar space in Beaune and currently crafts tiny quantities of Beaune Rouge and organic St Romain Blanc.

Le Grappin, Burgundy

After five years of touring, making wine in some of the most respected Pinot Noir and Chardonnay terroirs of the world (Burgundy, Otago, Yarra) Andrew and Emma Nielsen settled in Beaune and Le Grappin was born in 2011. Their vision is to seek out special sites in the overlooked, under-appreciated reaches of Burgundy and vinify tiny parcels of terroir wines. The wines are vibrant, pure and fine with elegance across the board.

Chateau des Jacques, Beaujolais

Wines crafted in the Burgundian style with longer skin contact than many of their Beaujolais peers. Chateau des Jacques make incredibly ageworthy and food friendly wines from some of the top terroirs in Beaujolais. They have a particular affinity with the village of Moulin a Vent and their single vineyard wines are ones to look out for.

J. Moreau & Fils, Chablis

Located in the heart of the Chablis region, J Moreau & Fils is nestled among the rolling, vineyard covered hills for which the region is famous. Founded in 1814, J. Moreau et Fils is a specialist in unoaked Chablis styles and has nearly two centuries of experience behind it and a very strong vision for the future. Since 2006 the wines have been vinified with the very close involvement of Prof. Denis Dubourdiu with the Moreau winemaking team. The project has given a new impetus to winemaking in Moreau and we are now seeing a revitalization of the Moreau wines styles, characterised by a lively minerality and a perfect balance between terroir, fruit, structure and texture, making the wines accessible in their youth while at the same time possessing a great ageing potential.

Hugel, Alsace

The Hugel family are faithfully implementing the major principles they inherited from their ancestors and are driven to make Hugel and Alsace wine the great white wine of the 21st century. Hugel wines have become very popular with Irish consumers and wine lovers worldwide, due in no small way to their wonderful versatility with modern food dishes. They are the most flexible of wines in terms of food pairings: cheese, fish, lamb, Indian, Asian, fusion and of course more traditional foods are all enhanced by these wonderful wines. Hugel wines represent great value for money, in particular, Hugel Gentil. Hugel Gentil is the only Hugel wine that is a blend of several varieties and the perfect introduction to Alsace wines, suited to many occasions. This wine revives an ancient Alsace tradition that wines assembled from noble grape varieties were called 'Gentil'. Gentil 'Hugel' allies the suave, spicy flavour of Gewurztraminer, the body of Pinot Gris, the finesse of Riesling, the grapiness of Muscat and the refreshing character of Sylvaner.

Domaine Le Fay d'Homme

Vincent Caille's wines portray beautifully what the Muscadet region can achieve – wines of vitality, intensity and complexity. These are wines that are defined by their wonderful acid structure and freshness. We are also lucky to represent his project with Christelle Guibert, Vine Revival, where ancient Melon de Bourgogne vines are brought back to life through gentle pruning, low yields and meticulous care.

Sadly Vincent's vines have been decimated by frost over the last couple of vintages and as such are in very limited quantity.

Roger Champault has slowly grown his estate from just two hectares when he took over it to its current size of twenty hectares. Now assisted by the next generation, his two sons Laurent and Claude, they produce wines that reflect the terroir of Sancerre, yet remain modern with great purity of fruit. We currently bring in just their entry-level wine, Les Pierris, which they were very proud to see used at the wedding of the Princess of Sweden back in 2010. The wine has aromas of white peach and citrus fruits with a lively freshness and minerality on the palate.

Domaine Patrice Moreux, Loire

Patrice Moreux and his sons, Arnaud and Julien, cultivate 35 hectares of vines at Pouilly-sur-Loire. They are the sole owners of the parcel of land known as "La Loge aux Moines", a superbly situated historic site in the Pouilly Fumé region where vines were first planted in the 11th century. The wine that bears this name shows the quality of this south-facing vineyard where the soil is pure Kimmeridgian marl. It has great depth of flavour and yet has a finesse that belies the richness of the wine. Their regular cuvee of Pouilly Fumé is also excellent - a blend of three different terroirs of the region, partly fermented in concrete vats, which Arnaud believes adds an extra dimension to the wine.

Michel Chapoutier, Rhone

The House of Chapoutier has a long and proud family tradition dating back to 1808. Today, seven generations later, Michel Chapoutier carries on this tradition using biodynamic winemaking techniques to make outstanding wines which have received wide international acclaim.

Michel Chapoutier's often daring combination of old and new techniques and his creative solutions to old problems has transformed winemaking in the region and brought many accolades to both himself and his wines, including much praise from the respected Mr Robert Parker.

He has the biggest holding in Hermitage and is also the largest biodynamic producer in France. Chapoutier's commitment to biodynamism is unflinching. The terroir is a living organism and must be respected and reflected through flavours unique to each parcel and vintage rather than strive for a common style. Chapoutier is also recognized by their use of Braille on the labels. Maurice Monier de la Sizeranne owner of the first plot of the Hermitage la Sizeranne - one of Chapoutier's signature wines - is also the inventor of the first version of abbreviated Braille.

Duc de Castellac, Bergerac

Duc de Castellac is an easy-drinking wine for sharing, a modern range of very lightly oaked fruit-driven wines. The château on the label is the Maison de Peyrarède, a Bergerac mansion which belonged to a rich business family. Louis XIII once spent a night there. Widely appreciated through Europe, the wines of Bergerac go hand in hand with the humanism of Montaigne and his fellow essayist La Boétie. Later they were to inspire Cyrano with his verve and gallantry.

Chateau Font-Mars, Languedoc

The ancestors of Jean Baptiste de Clock have been making wines since the late 17th century, at first in Bordeaux but since 1864 at the Chateau Font-Mars in Mèze on the Mediterranean coast south-west of Montpellier. Here he produces a delicious wine from the local Picpoul grape. With flavours of tropical fruits and a herbal tinge, the wine has plenty of weight, a rounded texture and a marked freshness that makes it the perfect match for shellfish and seafood.

ITALY

Giacomo Fenocchio, Barolo

A beautiful family estate located in the heart of the Bussia zone now run by Claudio Fenocchio and his young family. This is an estate steeped in the traditions of Barolo. Long post-fermentation times counter-intuitively leading to smoother more elegant and accessible wines. Barolo wines that can be savoured now or can be laid down.

Tenuta di Carleone, Chianti

Sean O'Callaghan is the man behind these incredible expressions of Sangiovese. Sean unusually eschews all use of wood in favour of concrete tanks for both fermenting and maturing these wines. This choice gives the wines vibrancy and a unique personality amongst the wines of Chianti. Sean is an absolute minimal interventionist and, as such, these wines fit in the more natural end of the winemaking spectrum.

Masi, Veneto

If any name can be synonymous with a wine region and its winemaking it has to be Masi. The history of Masi is the history of its vineyards: its name derives from "Vaio dei Masi", meaning "little valley of the Masi" in the valley of the Negrar (in the Valpolicella Classico zone), which was the first vineyard acquired by the Boscaini family, owners of Masi, at the end of the 18th century. Masi produces premium wines which are modern in style but deeply rooted in tradition, using mainly grapes indigenous to the Veneto and utilising time-honoured techniques such as 'appassimento', resulting in wines full of the character particular to the region from which they were born. Sandro Boscaini is the sixth generation of the family running Masi and is the current company president. He is widely regarded as the de facto authority on winemaking in the Veneto due to his decades of visionary innovation, experimentation and development in the field. Such an outlook resulted in the first 'Ripasso' wine, Campofiorin, as well as adapting similar techniques to create other unique wines such as Masianco and the rest of the 'Super Venetian' family for which Masi is internationally famous.

Bossi Fedrigotti, Trentino

The noble Conti Bossi Fedrigotti family has lived in Trentino for almost 600 years, and for more than 300 of them family members have cultivated vines with love and dedication. Their first vintage was in 1697. The biggest innovation came in 1961 with the creation of Fojaneghe, the first Bordeaux blend wine in Italy. The current proprietors, Isabella, Maria Josè and Gian Paolo Bossi Fedrigotti, continue to produce wine on their ancient estates with the same passion as always.

Serego Alighieri, Veneto

For over six centuries the Serego Alighieri estate has been the historic reference point for Verona's winemaking and agricultural traditions. It was in 1353 that Pietro, son of the poet Dante Alighieri, purchased land and a villa in the hills of Valpolicella, and the estate is still the property of the descendants of the author of the Divine Comedy.

Quintarelli, Veneto

One of the truly iconic wineries of Italy. Giuseppe Quintarelli started working on the estate in 1950; Constantly looking to make improvements both in the vineyard and the winery and always experimenting with new ideas while working within the region's traditions. Unfortunately, Giuseppe passed away in 2012 at the age of 84, leaving his daughter Franca and her husband Giampaolo Grigoli to manage the estate with their son Francesco. There's an air of obsession with quality at Quintarelli. They treat wine with respect and patience allowing it to develop to maximum potential prior to bottling thus releasing the wines with huge bottle age when compared with their peers.

Torre dei Beati, Abruzzo

This family venture was established in 1999 by Fausto Albanese and his partner Adriana Galasso when they started to cultivate the Montepulciano vines planted in 1972 by Adriana's father, Rocco. They immediately converted the vineyard to organic viticulture and in 2004 they bought a further 8 hectares where they continued to plant Montepulciano, but also the native white varieties Pecorino and Trebbiano.

Word of mouth of the quality of their wines spread quickly throughout Italy and in recent years they have received glowing reviews and awards from all the major Italian wine publications, including "Tre Bicchieri" for their 'Cocciapazza' Montepulciano d'Abruzzo two years running in Gambero Rosso's annual Vini d'Italia guide.

Bodega Classica, Rioja

Wines created in the heartland of the Rioja Alta region in San Vicente de la Sonsierra. Wines that marry tradition and modernity harmoniously. Bright, pure and focused while still using traditional techniques of elevage. There is a delightful softness of fruit across the range with plenty of grip and seriousness too - perfect food wines. La Sonsierra has a wine history going back millennia with lagares hewn out of the rock near the vineyards common place. This history is no surprise given the microclimate here - protected by the Tolono mountain range to the North and the river Ebro to the South. La Sonsierra is also home to a huge amount of old bush vine Tempranillo which adds amazing depth and character to these wines.

Matsu, Toro

The faces staring out from these labels look like they could tell a thousand stories and represent the old Tinta de Toro (Tempranillo) vines of the Toro region used to craft these wines. With the youngest man representing an average vine age of 90 years old and the eldest man representing an average vine age of over 100 years old there is no surprise when tasting the complexity of these wines. Rich, layered and generous these biodynamic and vegan wines are a must try.

Proyecto Garnacha

The collection of wines 'Proyecto Garnacha de España' is a tribute to a variety that had until recently been underrated due to its complicated viticulture and its difficult production. Garnacha has been rescued from obscurity thanks, in large part, to producers creating wines of purity, freshness and focus, often at high altitudes and from ancient bush vines. This has rejuvenated the appreciation for the wines of this incredible variety. Here are three wines of the same variety expressing their different terroirs.

Fedellos do Couto, Ribeira Sacra

Fedellos is a young project between four friends, conceived in 2013. The early vintages already show outstanding potential and they have established a real cult following. Fedellos loosely translates as "Brats", and Couto refers to the 12th century manor in Ribeira Sacra at the heart of the old vineyards on the steep terraces of the rivers Sil and Bibei. The wines are made from local grape varieties like Godello, Mencía and Merenzao fermented with indigenous yeasts and whole bunches, at low temperatures to favour a gentle extraction of colour and phenolics. All the wines share an Atlantic freshness and a slaty minerality that make these wines unmistakably Galician.

Marques de Riscal, Rioja

Founded in 1858 by Camilo Hurtado de Amézaga, Marqués de Riscal is one of the oldest wineries in Rioja. Its history is based on two fundamental values - tradition and innovation. These two concepts have allowed it to achieve exceptional levels of quality, making its wines something unique. Their Reserva is a Rioja classic that sets a benchmark for the entire region. Today, Marqués de Riscal continues to make history with its outstanding City of Wine, an ambitious project designed to connect the modern world with its rich heritage in winemaking.

Monologo, Rioja

Protected by the cold winds of the Rioja Alavesa, in the foothills of the Sierra de Cantabria, and with the exceptional setting of the medieval village of Laguardia, the Solar Viejo wineries have been making wines with singular personality for more than 75 years with Rioja Designation of Origin. The original winery was founded in one of the emblematic manors of Laguardia, within the walled enclosure of the villa. It was there that the first Solar Viejo was developed, the icon of the winery. The current facilities, built over 30 years ago, are in the vicinity of the town and preserve the essence of that original experience. Vineyards that incorporate the expressiveness of a demanding land with excellent wine, a traditional production method and the incorporation of new technologies are the three pillars on which Solar Viejo is established, a benchmark for the oldest D.O. in Spain.

Mas Rabell, Penedes

The fortified farmhouse of Mas Rabell, built in the fourteenth century is surrounded by an impressive landscape of mountains and vines. It is after this farmhouse that Torres Mas Rabell, the house wine of the Torres family, is named. This wine reflects the healthy Mediterranean tradition of drinking wine with food and provides an ideal accompaniment to many different types of cuisine, whether it be local food or international fare. Mas Rabell White is made from Parellada and Garnacha Blanca grapes, traditional Spanish varieties. It is a beautiful pale gold colour with fine notes of apple and delicate notes of wild herbs. The palate is silky with a dry elegance. Mas Rabell Red is made with local Spanish grape varieties Garnacha and Cariñena and is blended with some Merlot. This dark crimson wine has aromas of blackberry fruits and spices that combine with notes of liquorice and forest fruits.

Jean Leon, Penedes

Jean Léon travelled the world searching for the perfect place to grow his vines, until he reached Catalonia. There he found the place he was seeking. The Jean Léon pago lies right at the heart of the Penedès region and was purchased in 1963 by grouping together several carefully selected pieces of land. The property consists in total of 150 hectares, the vineyards are situated on a slightly sloping, south-facing mountainside in the Penedès district, at a height of 280-310m above sea level, sheltered from the northern winds and possible frosts in winter and spring.

GERMANY

Peter Jakob Kuhn, Rheingau

For over 200 years the Kuhn family have been at the forefront of viticulture & winemaking in Germany. The current generation of the family is led by Peter Jakob, his wife Angela and their son, Peter Bernhard. With a keen feeling of responsibility in continuing this long tradition in 2004 they moved their entire production to biodynamics. Their goal is to produce "soulful wine in the greatest possible harmony with nature."

This is achieved with aplomb – the wines are a delight and could be used as a definition for the words "minerality" and "freshness".

AUSTRIA

Gut Oggau, Burgenland

Stephanie and Eduard Tscheppe make authentic wines in a restored 17th century winery in the village of Oggau on the Neusiedlersee lake in Burgenland in Austria. Indigenous varieties farmed biodynamically show the true nature and interest of what Austrian wines can achieve. Stephanie and Eduard felt each of their plots showed a unique personality and wanted to ensure that this was portrayed from vine to glass hence the distinctive caricatured faces on each label. Gut Oggau are Demeter-certified biodynamic and a member of Renaissance des Appellations which is a worldwide body for the co-promotion of authentic terroir wines.

Michael Wenzel, Burgenland

Despite having less than 2000 inhabitants Rust was bestowed the title of city by the Hungarian crown in the 1600's perhaps down to the fame of the local wines particularly Ausbruch the lusciously sweet wine which was once one of the world's most expensive wines. Michael Wenzel is finely tuned to the history all around him on the Austro-Hungarian border. He grows Furmint with cuttings taken across the border by his grandfather during Hungarian communism. The wines are zippy and textured with a real purity from minimal intervention winemaking and low sulphur dioxide use just at bottling.

Krasna Hora

The roots of this small winery go back to the early 1960s when the first family vineyard was planted. Since then, they have come a long way, focusing on releasing high quality, biodynamic wines from small parcels of premium fruit after long and careful ageing in their cellar, located behind the vineyard. The region of Moravia is situated at the very limit of where grapes can be grown in Central Europe, in the south-eastern corner of the Czech Republic. The cool temperature in the region provides the wines with vivid brightness and freshness.

WALES

Ancre Hill Estate, Monmouth

Richard and Joy Morris established Ancre Hill Estate on a South-facing slope just outside of Monmouth in Wales in 2006. Not content with just growing vines on the edge of viticultural impossibility, their pioneering spirit also led them to farm biodynamically from 2011. Biodynamics is a brave philosophy to follow anywhere but certainly in a location that is sharing lines of latitude with Waterford, Cork & Kerry. The couple have been joined by their son David who brings a youthful ambition alongside a fierce love of vinous experimentation. These traits are embodied in the estate's Pet Nat made from the Triomphe variety and their skin contact Albarino. Across their offering these are wines that are positively charged, energetic and lively in the mouth; wines that excite and amaze.

GREECE

Lyrarakis, Crete

The Lyrarakis winery is situated in the heart of Heraklion on the beautiful island of Crete. In 2016 they celebrated their 50th anniversary. The winery balances innovation & tradition and has been at the forefront of bringing obscure local varieties back to life. High altitude viticulture (400-550m) brings the signature vibrancy and freshness in these wines.

LEBANON

Chateau Musar, Bekaa Valley

Established in 1930 by Gaston Hochar, Chateau Musar make outstanding wines in the beautiful historic Bekaa valley in Lebanon. The international success of the brand was due to the drive, passion & vision of Gaston's son Serge. The untimely passing of Serge leaves a real void in the wine world as he was one of the true legends of the industry. In recent years, Serge's sons, Gaston & Marc have been at the helm & continue to deliver this unique & elegant wine.

Cono Sur

Cono Sur Vineyards & Winery was founded in 1993, with the vision of producing premium, expressive and innovative wines that convey the spirit of the New World. Right from the start, Cono Sur applied new ideas and technology to traditional winemaking methods. Their main goal, therefore, is to create expressive and innovative wines. Ocio 2014 recently received excellent praise in Wine Advocate and was awarded 95 Points, while Silencio was awarded 95 points at Wine & Spirit Magazine.

Miguel Torres

Torres was the first foreign company to establish holdings in Chile in 1979 and their foresight has meant that they have been able to keep pace with the growing demand for quality Chilean wine. The large temperature differences between day and night, the phylloxera-free soils and the usual Torres attention to detail, produce wines of superb quality. Miguel Torres Chile carry out environmentally friendly viticulture whenever possible using biological alternatives and avoiding the use of aggressive products.

ARGENTINA

Bodegas La Rosa, Mendoza

Founded in 1892, Bodegas La Rosa has a long history of wine making in Argentina. Today the winery produces modern wines that have vibrant fruit expression and excellent balance. The Andean Vineyards wines and CXV come from high altitude vineyards in Mendoza where the vines benefit from warmth and excellent light during the daytime, and cool nights that maintain freshness and aromatic qualities. The Andean Vineyards Malbec sees no oak and has an attractive note of violet on the nose and lovely ripe fruit on the palate. Its big brother, the Reserve, is a selection of fruit that sees some time in oak. It is rich and mouth filling with intense fruit flavours. Both wines have a freshness on the finish that gives them great drinkability. The CXV is a polished and sophisticated Cabernet/Syrah/Malbec blend, with perfumes of cedarwood. It is capable of ageing for a number of years. Finally the Aires Andinos wines offer superb value for money, proving that Chile is not the only country that can produce great value, well-made pouring wines.

Masi, Mendoza

Masi has taken the oenological practices and winemaking techniques for which they are renowned in Italy's Veneto and adapted them to the natural environment and culture of Argentina. The result is an exciting range of wines blending Argentina's native Torrontes and Malbec grapes alongside traditional varieties from MASI's home in the Veneto. The techniques of appassimento (laying grapes out to dry) and double fermentation have been adapted here with great results, thanks to the favourable climate. "Passo Doble" is a play on words - the passionate Argentinian dance and the double fermentation method used in the wine's production both finding reference in the name.

SOUTH AFRICA

Craven, Stellenbosch

Another of the new wave of South African producers, husband and wife team Mick and Jeanine Craven are producing stunning terroir-driven wines from the Stellenbosch Region. Mick (an Australian) and Jeanine (a South African) met during vintage in California in 2007 and have travelled the winemaking world working for the likes of Dujac and Chapoutier before finally settling in Jeanine's native Stellenbosch. The Craven philosophy is that hard work in the vineyards makes light work in the cellars. All of the wines come from single vineyards, winemaking is very hands off with minimal additions (if any), with native ferments and neutral oak.

Testalonga, Swartland

Craig Hawkins is one of the leading lights in South African wine making, bursting onto the scene in 2008 with Testalonga El Bandito. Having an Irish passport, he was able to gain great experience spending several years in Europe, working six months there and then six months back home in South Africa. In this time he worked with leading winemakers including Eben Sadie, Tom Lubbe, Remy Pedreino and Dirk Niepoort that have all had a profound influence on his style. The wines are innovative, high quality, terroir and varietal-expressive, thus, they've started to gain a cult-like following.

City On A Hill, Swartland

City On A Hill is the project of young gun winemaker André Bruyns. Very much in its infancy, André has started by producing a Chenin Blanc-dominant white blend. Only in its second vintage, this wine has already been hailed by critics as one of South Africa's top white wines. With new wines in mind, André is one to watch.

Kanonkop Estate, Stellenbosch

Kanonkop Estate is often referred to as South Africa's closest equivalent to a French Premier Cru. The winery, located just outside Stellenbosch, is truly beautiful and a visit is recommended, as is a visit to the Art Gallery. The absolute commitment to quality and the production of the best quality wines is unrelenting. Investment in their cellar, smaller oak barrels, and a new tasting room / reception for visitors to the Estate are just the most recent projects.

De Wetshof, Robertson

The De Wetshof Estate is located in the Robertson Wine Valley, 160km from Cape Town. It is South Africa's premier Chardonnay house, creating a wide range of wine styles from this versatile varietal. Danie de Wet is one of South Africa's most influential and pioneering winemakers. De Wetshof are a close-knit team, headed up by Danie and his wife Lesca, with a simple credo: 'to produce truly great Chardonnay'. Over thirty years of experimenting with different clones on different soils are paying fantastic dividends. De Wetshof are past winners of the Grand Prix d'Honneur at VinExpo in Bordeaux.

Penfolds, Adelaide Hills

Without the influence of Penfolds the modern Australian wine industry would look very different indeed. Sitting comfortably outside of fad and fashion, Penfolds has taken Australian wine to the world on a grand stage and forged a reputation for quality that is without peer. Penfolds' has not only a reputation for making wines of provenance and cellaring potential but is also renowned for the innovative spirit that has led them since their foundation, and continues to find expression in modern times. One of the world's true wine icons; Grange is a wine that must be tried at least once in a lifetime.

Rawson's Retreat, South East Australia

Contemporary wines for immediate drinking – the Rawson's Retreat range of wines has been crafted with immediate drinkability in mind. This fine collection of straight varietals and blends was made from grapes grown on select vineyards across southeast Australia. Each wine in the range brings something different to the collection. The Chardonnay offers a choice of fine Australian interpretations of classic old-world varieties – it displays the benefits of multi-regional and multi-vineyard sourcing and is incredibly consistent in its quality year to year. The Shiraz/ Cabernet blend is uniquely Australian, taking the sum of the parts and turning them into a greater whole. Marrying the structure of Cabernet Sauvignon with the generosity of Shiraz has delivered a wine that has earned a legion of fans around the world. The Rawson's

Retreat wines are ideal as an aperitif, on their own or with a range of different cuisines and food types.

Katnook Estate, Coonawarra

Katnook Estate lies at the heart of Coonawarra, premier district for Australian red wines. 'Katnook' is an Aboriginal word meaning "fat land" referring to Coonawarra's red, fertile soil. The Katnook Founder's Block wines are named after the original land holding of John Riddoch, founder of Coonawarra. The winery boasts an extraordinary track record of trophies and awards. The wines represent remarkable value for those looking for a wine with the stamp of Coonawarra. Their goal is making wines which show subtlety, intrigue and complexity. Reflecting the essence of Coonawarra's terroir is integral to the winemaking approach.

Deakin Estate, Victoria

Red Cliffs near Mildura in North West Victoria is home to Deakin Estate. Here the combination of the warm, sunny climate and the life-giving Murray River allows the team to produce fruit of the highest quality and wines brimming with flavour and varietal character. The estate is named after a former Prime Minister of Australia, Alfred Deakin, who encouraged the irrigation of the land in the Murray River Valley laying the foundation of what has now become one of Australia's most productive and prosperous sources of high quality produce including citrus, olives, almonds and grapes. The Artisan's Blend wines offer superb value for money as house wines, while the rich and meaty Deakin Estate Cabernet Sauvignon is perhaps the star of the varietal range.

Keenan's Bridge, Murray Darling

Our on-trade Australian house wine traces its name back to the 1840's when James Keenan emigrated from Ireland to start a new life in Australia. Today the area in which he settled in South Australia is still known as Keenan's Bridge. The wines are excellent value for money, a good food match but with an approachable style that makes them perfect for selling as wine by the glass.

Wolf Blass, South Australia

Wolf Blass is one of Australia's greatest success stories. From a humble tin shed in the legendary Barossa Valley in 1966, Wolf Blass has grown to become one of Australia's most successful and awarded winemakers and Wolf Blass wines are exported to more than 50 countries. The brand is recognised internationally as an icon of modern winemaking. The Wolf Blass range not only offers wines that are smooth, with excellent character and of superb value but also a fantastic selection of premium and super premium wines. The Black Label is the iconic Wolf Blass blend; it has won the prestigious Jimmy Watson trophy an unprecedented four times since the first vintage in 1973, and more than 230 gold medals.

Matua, Marlborough

“They said we were mad” – It’s hard to separate New Zealand and Sauvignon Blanc these days, but Matua were the first to put them together, planting the first Sauvignon Blanc in 1969 and producing their first bottle in 1974. Matua began with a vision shared by Bill and Ross Spence – to revolutionise the New Zealand wine industry by making wines with the best fruit from the best vineyards. Starting as a small, family-run winery in West Auckland, winemakers Ross and Bill Spence quickly gained a reputation for innovative, award-winning New Zealand wines. Today, Matua produces a wide range of distinctive and award winning wines, which are now enjoyed all over the world. Their philosophy still stands and has earned Matua international recognition for its pioneering work.

Broc Cellars, California

Chris Brockway makes vivid wines from quirky grape varieties, in organic & biodynamic production, around California. His winemaking journey began at UC Davis, one of the world's most famous schools of oenology, but his experiences drinking & enjoying minimal intervention & natural wines led him on a different path. The wines at Broc Cellars are made with natural ferments with no additions (with the exception of some SO2 at bottling) and a constant eye on experimentation – the winery is brimming with amphora, concrete eggs and wooden fermenting vats.

Arnot- Roberts, California

Arnot-Roberts was founded in 2001 in Healdsburg, California by childhood friends Duncan Arnot Meyers and Nathan Lee Roberts. Duncan and Nathan grew up in the midst of vineyards and winemakers in the Napa Valley. Each took an interest in the wine industry with Nathan following his father's lead as a cooper and Duncan pursuing winemaking in renowned wineries in Napa and Sonoma. When the cool vintage of 2005 delivered fresh austere wines in California the pair realised this was their path and reacted by finding the coolest sites they could to create wines of purity, drive and tension. Minimal intervention and tiny production.

Grgich Hills Estate, Napa Valley

Miljenko "Mike" Grgich first gained international recognition at the celebrated "Judgement of Paris" in 1976. Then, in a now-historic blind tasting, a panel of eminent French judges swirled, sniffed, and sipped an array of the fabled white Burgundies of France and a small sampling of upstart Chardonnays from the Napa Valley. When their scores were tallied, the French judges were shocked; they had chosen the 1973 Chateau Montelena Chardonnay, crafted by Mike Grgich, as the finest white wine in the world. Today, the Grgich family remain committed to organic farming making distinctive wines of purity, fermented with indigenous yeasts, and arriving at quality, consistency and longevity.

Beringer Vineyards holds the distinction of being the oldest continuously operating winery in the Napa Valley. It is also one of the very few wineries that survived the draconian prohibition of 1922, which lasted over a decade. The estate is also in the National Register for Historic Places as a historic district, a status it has held since 2001. With its perfect blend of modern technology and age old traditions, Beringer Vineyards still produces memorable wines that continue to bring recognition to the company and all of Napa Valley.

FORTIFIED WINES

Bodegas El Maestro Sierra

El Maestro Sierra combines traditional winemaking with artisan character. More than 180 years after its creation, the bodega is still family owned and stands in the same location where almost two centuries ago it first opened its doors. Many of the old features are still untouched, from the albero floors where the soleras stand quietly resting, to barrels that contain wines dating back as far as 1860. The labour of "trasiago", the transition of the wine through the scales of the solera system, is still done by hand with great care and skill. This handmade ethos, the firm ideal of quality over quantity, and, the patience to allow each of their wines the necessary maturing time have made El Maestro Sierra wines into little works of art; wines of extreme age and complexity.

SPIRITS

Glendalough Whiskey, Wicklow

The Glendalough Distillery was set up by five friends from Wicklow and Dublin with a deep passion for reviving the heritage of craft distilling in Ireland. In the 18th & 19th centuries there were over 200 licensed distilleries in Ireland along with countless unlicensed ones produced diverse styles of poitín, whiskey, gin and even absinthe. Until recently that dropped to a small handful. Glendalough Distillery is now part of a revival of this heritage. The idea behind Glendalough Distillery is to make innovative spirits while staying true to the tradition and heritage of our ancestors. Initially started with the first ever spirit, poitín and since then have moved to whiskey and most recently the release of seasonal, wild botanical gins

These four whiskeys from Glendalough have been setting the world on fire since their release, winning award after award. At the San Francisco World Spirit Awards 2015, the Double Barrel was awarded Gold medal as the "Best Irish Whiskey Under 7 Years Old", whilst the 13 Year Old won a double Gold as the "Best Irish Whiskey". Not to be outdone the 7 Year Old was awarded a Master at the Global Spirits Masters 2015.

Glendalough Gin, Wicklow

As well as pioneering in the whiskey category, Glendalough are also bringing real innovation and a point of difference to the crowded gin market. These are gins unlike any other. Each season they go out into the wilds of Wicklow foraging; picking what grows and distil with it the very next day. While the spring gin is a fresh mix of young green shoots, wild botanical leaves and flowers, the summer gin tastes like a meadow in bloom, with amazing floral flavours and light early fruits. Autumn is packed with wild fruits and berries, it's the bounty of the surrounding mountains bottled. Winter can be a tough one to get out. Some years they can't even make a batch, it completely depends on what kind of winter we get! With each taste, these gins transport you to a place and time in our home - the Wicklow Mountains. The newest addition to the portfolio, The Wild Botanical Gin has just been awarded Gold at the San Francisco World Spirits Competition.

Glendalough, Wicklow

The origin of the species, the original water of life. Before there was whiskey, there was Poitin . It's Ireland's gift to the world, one of the first spirits ever to be distilled. Glendalough have harnessed tradition, craft and heritage to capture a millennium and a half of distilling expertise in this ancient and notorious drink. It is carefully crafted from an old poitin recipe using the finest Irish sugar beets and malted barley. It is batch distilled and finished in virgin Irish oak. The result is a smooth but complex mix of malted barley sugars and toasted, woody flavours.

Williams & Humbert, Jerez

Botanic is a unique premium gin, distilled in the United Kingdom with the finishing touches provided in the Bodegas of Williams & Humbert, in Jerez, Spain. Distillation takes place in the UK in stills of more than one hundred years old. The secret of our London Dry Gin lies in the purity of the alcohol, obtained from the selection during distillation of the finest and most uniform part, the heart. In the second phase it is formulated in the winery to provide its definitive personality, adding a series of botanicals originating in Spain, including Buddha's hand, bergamot, sweet orange and almond shells. Buddha's hand, originates from North-East India or China, is a variety of citrus with fruits that are fragmented in sections that look like fingers. The distinctive square bottle creates impact on shelf and reflects the truly original taste of the brand.
